SCENES AT CAVE CITY, WHERE FLOYD COLLINS IS

IMPRISONED IN CAVE, AND VICTIMS SWEETHEART

Above is shown the emergency field kitchen of the Kentucky National Guard which is feeding the men struggling to release the entombed Floyd Collins trapped almost two weeks ago in a sand cave when he was pinned to the ground by a falling boulder. Below is seen the miniature electric plant established in the woods near the cave. The plant supplies light and heat to the trapped man and is also connected with radio apparatus which has been put to use to obtain the faintest signals from the plighted explorer. The insert shows Miss Tina Clark, the grief-stricken sweetheart of Collins with whom she had planned to elope she prays constantly for his safe rescue.

"Mystery Girl" Found Wandering Here is Now on Hunger Strike

Miss Roberta Marshall, 24, Oakland telephone operator and "Mystery girl" found wandering aimlessly in Richmond early Thursday morning and unable to tell her name is reported to have spoken to C. C. Steele and Steve Barbiuk at the Richmond Hotel when she rented a room at that establishment at about 2:30 p. m. on Wednesday, February 11.

Steele stated that he found the girl standing in a hallway at the hotel and inquired if she desired to see anyone.

Miss Marshall answered, "Yes sir, I want to see the manager."

The manager, Steve Barbiuk, then appeared and upon the request of the girl showed her a room, but she asked to have one at a cheaper price and Barbiuk gave her one for seventy-five cents. The rent was paid in cash. She registered under the name of Morcia Reese.

Miss Marshall was in bed at 11 a. m. on Thursday morning when the chamber-maid, Elvira Berry went in to clean up the room. Mrs. Berry reported that the girl was lying in the bed as if asleep and that it required several hard shakes to arouse her. Mrs. Berry inquired if she were ill but received only a negative shake of the head and the semblance of a groan as a reply.

The girl came down into the lobby of the Hotel Richmond at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and offered Barbiuk extra money for room rent, but without speaking, according to Steele, but the money was refused and the girl left the hotel.

According to reports, Miss Marshall seemed to be perfectly rational at the time. Steele, stated, however, that she appeared down-hearted—as if she were short of money and did not know where she was going to sleep that night.

The girl left her home in Oakland on Sunday afternoon and from that time to Wednesday afternoon, nothing is known of her movements.

According to W. H. Hough, county hospital superintendent at Martinez, the girl is now on a hunger strike as well as being unable to tell her name. He reports that the girl has ignored food placed before her by nurses and has not eaten since she was brought to the institution Thursday evening.

Force feeding is a possibility if the girl does not take nourishment voluntarily. Superintendent Hough declared.

Hough believes the girl is on a "talk strike" as well as a hunger strike.

"I am of the opinion that the girl can talk if she wants to," Hough declared. "Food is placed

Extra session of Congress is Called March 4

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—President Coolidge today issued a formal proclamation that the Senate will be called to meet in extra session on March 4. The session will convene immediately after the inauguration of Coolidge and Dawes, primarily for the purpose of confirming the President's selection for his Cabinet.

The President's proclamation stated that "public interests require that the Senate be convened at 12 o'clock on the fourth day of March, next, to receive such communications as may be made by the executive."

For this reason, according to the proclamation, the President does "heretby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the Senate to convene" at that time. The President plans to submit to the Senate, among other matters, the renomination of those members of the holdover Harding cabinet, whose services he wishes to retain. This practice was followed by President Roosevelt upon the expiration of the term for which President McKinley had been elected.

Under the terms of the law, the President must submit the nomination of Postmaster-General New, whose term will automatically expire thirty days after March 4.

BLAST ON TANKER RESCUE DELAYED

COLLINS MAY BE RESCUED EARLY TODAY

Falls of Rock and Dirt Again Hamper Rescue Work in Kentucky Sand Cave.

'SCUED AT 6 O'CLOCK TODAY

Every Precaution is Being Taken To Protect Workers from Falling into Cavern

(By Universal Service)

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 14.—Driving steadily down into the depths of Sand Cave in a race against death, the workmen seeking to rescue Floyd Collins from his trap and had put their shaft down 55 1-2 feet late tonight.

Falls of rock and dirt then halted progress on the shaft and it was predicted that the rescue would be delayed another eight hours, which would make the rescue due about 6:00 o'clock Sunday morning.

When the second regular bulletin of the day came out it was simply this: "The depth of the shaft is 55 1-2 feet."

PROGRESS IS SLOW

Only a foot and a half progress in five hours. This means that the advance toward Collins is now measured by inches instead of feet. An extremely perilous situation has developed which was explained in a special bulletin issued by General Denhardt, Mr. Posey and Mr. Carmichael, which said: "On account of the nature of the material at the bottom of the shaft we are taking extra precautions swinging the cribbing with four three quarter inch steel cables anchored to 20 feet by 12 inch logs anchored on top of solid ground."

"This extraordinary precaution is being used in the event the limestone ledge at the bottom of the shaft is not of sufficient thickness to carry weight of cribbing. This would prevent possibility of the cribbing falling into the supposed 80 foot cave which Floyd Collins spoke of and which might be in the near vicinity of the shaft."

The cables drop down from the logs over the shaft, run under and around the lowest timber and are clamped back on themselves.

DISCOURAGING CONDITIONS

The work was being carried on under most discouraging conditions. When the shaft reaches a mud section the soft earth slides into the excavation under the tremendous weight of the rocks above and every foot of progress takes a terrific toll of human efforts. But the morale of the men has been tremendously stimulated by yesterday's exploration of the tunnel entrance to the cave and the report that Collins was heard to gasp. Every one believes firmly now that he is alive, in spite of the facts seeming impossible.

Congratulations are being tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Gordon Glavinovich of Berkeley, formerly of this city, on the birth of a daughter at the Merritt hospital, Oakland, yesterday. Dr. C. L. Abbott was the attending physician.

MYSTERY YET SHROUDS MAN WHO VANISHED

The disappearance of Walter Von Hoefen, former superintendent of the Pacific Sanitary works, is still shrouded in mystery.

Mrs. S. F. Sargent, proprietor of the Central Hotel in this city, and a close friend of the Von Hoefens, said yesterday that since the vanishing of the man several weeks ago in Los Angeles, not one clew of his whereabouts has been found.

Von Hoefen left his family at their home upon his return to Los Angeles shortly after a New Year's day visit with Mrs. Sargent in Richmond and although his car was found a week later, the man himself has totally disappeared.

The police of Los Angeles are still endeavoring to locate Von Hoefen but an astonishing lack of clues is reported.

Rumors were rife for some time that there was a shortage on Von Hoefen's books, but an inspection showed that the accounts balanced. It was also reported that family trouble might lead to his going away, but Mrs. Sargent declared that no such state existed, and that Mr. and Mrs. Von Hoefen were in the best of terms and thought a great deal of each other.

14,258 Motor Cars Registered in Contra Costa

Marsh states the division expects to handle 1,500,000 registrations during the current year. In this connection he warned motorists of Contra Costa County to renew their license before March 2nd as the fee becomes delinquent on that date and will be doubled.

Stockholders to Sue Telephone Co. on Stock Increase

(By Universal Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 14.—Indications that minority stockholders in the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company may begin legal proceedings in protest against the company's action of last week in increasing capital stock from $100,000,000 to $130,000,000 were given today in a communication received by secretary of state Frank C. Jordan from Carl Sherman, former attorney-general of New York.

Sherman told the secretary of state that he has already filed briefs with attorney-general U. S. Webb in behalf of his clients, holders of common stock in the company. Several such stockholders in the east already have protested to secretary Jordan.

Claims that their holdings will decrease in value due to the increase in authorized common stock of the corporation are urged by the minority stockholders who declare further that the incorporation papers of the company originally contained a promise that common stock would never be increased.

This original provision has been stricken out by a vote of two-thirds of the corporation's stockholders, according to secretary Jordan. Sherman contended in his letter today that unanimous consent of the stockholders is necessary to amend the articles of incorporation in this manner.

Crashes Theatre Door With Foot, But Finds No Show

Believed to have been intoxicated, an unidentified man pushed his foot through the thick glass door in the entrance to the Richmond theatre, at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and after staggering made his exit by lifting a bar to one of the side doors. Police report that they have not yet found the man.

The incident was reported by Leo Marcello and John McGrachen, who were standing near the corner when they heard the shattering of the glass as the man put his foot through the door. They investigated, but the man had gone when they began their search.

Explosion of Undetermined Origin On Lubrico Lands, Men In Hospital

NO SERIOUS INJURIES CLAIMED

Noise of Blast at Long Wharf At 9:30 Last Night Arouses Community Here

The deafening explosion that startled the Richmond people at 9:30 o'clock last night was identified as an explosion aboard the Standard Oil tanker, "Lubrico," at its mooring at the long wharf. Five men were injured in the explosion, and were treated at the company hospital, where the authorities reported that their injuries consisted of burns about the body.

Up to a late hour last night the cause of the explosion could not be determined. Investigators said that they would have to wait until daylight before they could make an examination of the ship.

CREATED SENSATION

The explosion created a sensation in Richmond, where it was heard distinctly, and for two hours afterwards the police and the newspapers were kept busy answering telephone inquiries.

For the size of the catastrophe it was claimed that it was remarkable that the men aboard the tanker were not more seriously hurt.

REFUSE TO GIVE NAMES

The Standard Oil authorities refused to divulge the names of the injured men last night, claiming they were only severely burned and would be able to leave the hospital by Monday. The five men, however, were being given treatment.

No further details as to how the accident occurred could be obtained.

CHILDREN HERE IMMUNED FROM DISEASE DANGER

The first immunization against diphtheria was given to 30 children, from the age of six months old upwards, at the city hall yesterday morning by Dr. C. R. Blake, city health officer. Every Saturday morning at the city hall a clinic will be conducted by Dr. Blake, beginning at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. Parents are urged to bring their children at this time. The only charge made will be for serum costs.

Dr. Blake states that three injections of the serum are necessary. Each treatment requires but a moment of time. Dr. Blake says. He declares that every child should be immunized, as the treatments make the child entirely immune from the disease.

Serious outbreaks of mumps among school children of the Byron, Brentwood and Walnut Creek districts are reported by Dr. Blake. As a result many children have been forced to leave, because the disease is very contagious. So far no cases have been reported here.

MOVIES ENCIRCLING THE WORLD

The footage of American motion picture film exported to foreign countries during the first nine months of 1924 was more than enough to mark the course of the American flyers around the world. In the aggregate it would have made a celluloid ribbon 33,000 miles long.

"American-made motion pictures," says the foreign commerce department of the chamber of commerce of the United States in an analysis of the trade in this twentieth-century commodity, "encircle the globe and are shown in practically every country of the world. Less than a dozen countries—all of them of minor importance—out of more than a hundred markets were not in the list of customers to whom direct shipments of motion picture films were made in 1924.

"And wherever American films are shown—from Norway to South Africa, from Portugal to Japan—American-made motion picture machines are found.

"During the first nine months of 1924, government statistics show, we exported $6,545,000 worth of motion picture films—174,000,000 feet. About three-fourths of this amount was in exposed films—negatives, as well as positives—128,000,000 feet, valued at $5,526,000. The quantity is more than 17 per cent greater than the 109,000,000 feet exported a year ago.

"Our best markets for negatives were England, France, Italy, Mexico, Germany and Argentina. The best customers for positives ready to be exhibited were Canada, Australia, England, Argentina, Brazil, Japan, Mexico, Cuba, France, New Zealand, Denmark, British South Africa, India, Chile, the Philippines, Sweden and Spain.

THE PRISONER A BUSINESS PROBLEM

In an effort to determine how prisoners may be kept at work without becoming a disturbing competitive factor in certain lines of industry, the department of manufacture of the chamber of commerce of the United States has embarked upon a study of the problem of prison labor, which has gone unsolved for forty years.

The board of directors of the national chamber, in directing the continuation of this study, said: "Prison idleness is unthinkable, but we believe care and study can devise some proper measure of educational training, prison employment, the production of which shall be devoted primarily to state use not for general sale."

This plan has already been adopted in some states. None of the prison production is sold in the open market and, consequently, does not come into competition with private investment or free labor.

"Too often," says the department of manufacture, "manufacturing has been used simply as an expedient to prevent unemployment. While it is agreed that the prisoner should not be permitted to exist in idleness, a plan should be worked out whereby his activities should be so directed as to result in improvement in his physical, mental, and moral condition. It should be the chief objective rather than the utilization of the prisoner to defray the cost of his maintenance."

OUR COUNTRY STILL BEST

"Big Bill" Haywood would rather come to America and face prison, than to stay in the communistic Russia of his muddled dreams. Emma Goldman, sick at heart over the failure of the soviet oligarchy to give or even dream a people's government, wants to come "home" to the land she said she despised. Theodore Petroff, a vulgar swindler caught in Wisconsin, pleads for life imprisonment in this country rather than deportation and freedom in Russia.

Only the blind man will say that everything is "all right" in Our Country. There are many things that need fixing; things that need the golden rule and the rule of common sense and the teachings of experience. But it is still the best country. It can be made still better when more realize this in the same sense that any sovereign realizes the responsibility for the charge committed to his care.

More active participation in every public move, an intelligent vote in every primary, a realization that every broken law is a personal assault on the national life, would greatly improve social and political conditions in Our Country.

PUBLIC PROPERTY

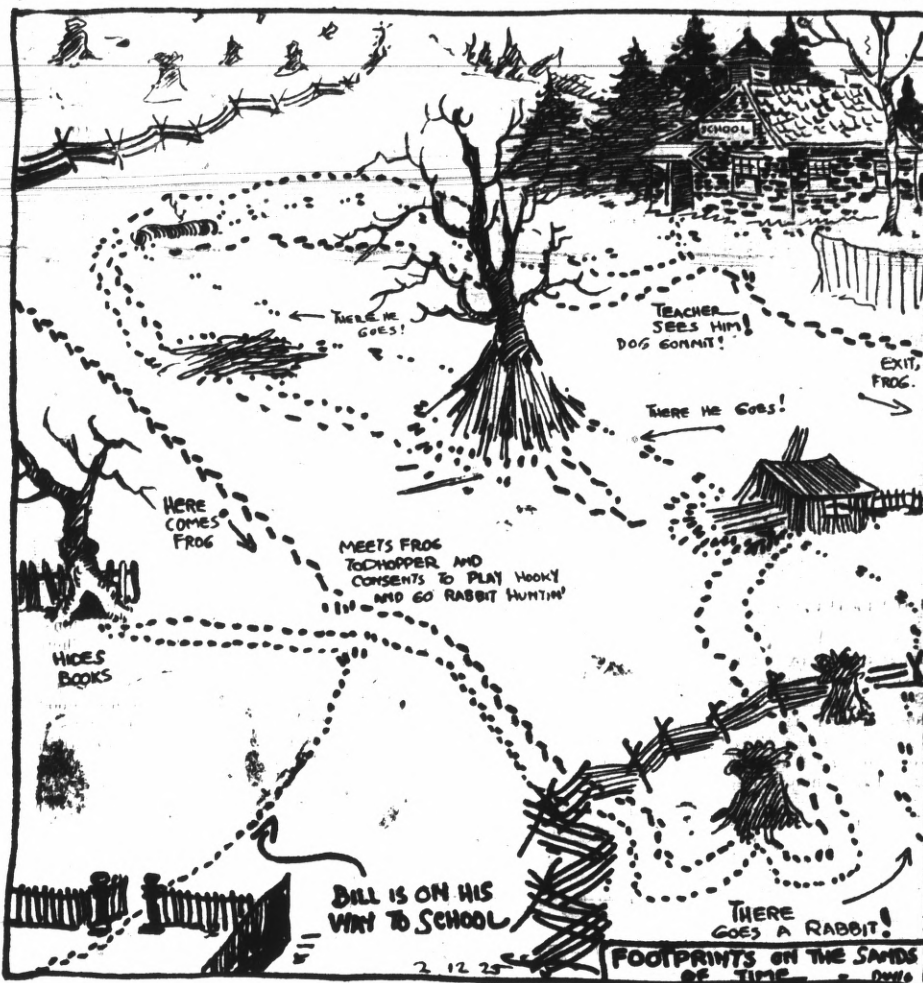

Custom has made it impossible for persons whose fortunes are made by publicity to have the same degree of privacy that most of us would insist upon. Mr. Dempsey and Miss Taylor have had a wonderful time turning reporters into maniacs over the impending marriage. They have handled the case like the veteran space bandits they are, and have laid away many future dollars in the form of present publicity.

We are led to believe that they are now safely married. They may for a time receive a small portion of privacy, but there will always be something rather public about their affairs. When the time comes for the next development in their matrimonial venture—whatever that development is—the reporters will have the background of the romantic pursuit of the middle of February, 1925, on which to paint in vivid phrases the newest happenings. Thus these people who live in the public eye accumulate publicity. Each item builds on a preceding one, and where the subject of the sketch profits, he should not protest.

Full skirt gathered into tight, wide band is smart note from Paris.

IT HAS been a long time in coming, but it seems to have arrived—that is, the wider skirt. Those who thought that it would come in the guise of a revised Second Empire frock with bouffant hips below a closely drawn bodice and their disappointment. The fact is that the full skirt, that appears as spring draws near is not exactly like any before.

We still cling to our fondness for the straight trim silhouette. We still care infinitely more for slender hips than for slender waists. We still eschew anything that seems like unnecessary bulk or weight about the skirt. But frankly we have found the very scant skirt uncomfortable and sometimes ugly. It is especially apt to be impracticable in the shortened version. What women wanted seemed like an impossibility. It was a skirt that should be wide enough for perfect comfort, but one that should have all the chic and youthfulness of the straight, scant one that we have been wearing.

But clever dressmakers and designers did not seem to find this impossible. Sometimes they have solved the problem by very skillfully adjusted inverted box pleats. On tailored suits and sport skirts they

WISE AND OTHERWISE

By MARY MARSHALL

TAKE CARE OF YOUR HAIR

THE "woman's crowning glory" phrase gives proof for the assertion that a woman's hair counts more than almost anything else in the sum of her looks.

Well cared for hair, always clean and healthy, becomingly arranged certainly does give distinction to any woman. And it is worth a lot to see to it that your hair is always in good order, always, if possible, in healthy condition, and always becomingly arranged.

Really, now that bobs are in vogue

THE YOUNG LADY ACROSS THE WAY

The young lady across the way was looking at the man who was looking at her. She was looking at him with a look of surprise. He was looking at her with a look of surprise. They were both looking at each other with a look of surprise.

there is little excuse for untidy hair. If you have not time to keep long locks in order, at least you have time to keep a bob clean and combed—and that is about all it needs.

Frequent shampoo, massage of the scalp, brushing once a day, and becoming and neat arrangement are the things that count, day in and day out, in keeping the hair presentable and, more than that, an asset.

SOMETHING NEW

There are charming sets from Paris consisting of handbags, with collar and cuffs. They are made of a sort of heavy grass linen, embroidered in bright colored woods of blue, red and green quite effectively on the natural ground color of the linen.

AN INTERESTING CREATION

From nowhere but Paris could such a lovely frock as this come. It is carried out in one of the new fabrics that suggest both rep and kasha. There are tucks at the sides to hold in the fulness and usurp the function of a belt. At the lower edge of the skirt are three flounces of self-material stitched with braid. The fronts may be under-faced and rolled back to form revers, or the neck may be left round and trimmed with a two-piece collar. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards 54-inch material and 6 1/2 yards braid.

My Matrimonial Vacation

By VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "The Husband Tamer," "One Wife on Approval," etc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

NANCY LARRABEE remains in New York with her mother, VIRGINIA, when her husband, JIM LARRABEE, who is an army officer, goes to the Philippines on foreign service. Distasteful when she sees another woman in her husband's arms, she plays the social game as her mother dictates, in her relationships with FRANK HARRISON, a wealthy man twice her age, and NICHOLAS WAYNE, whom she really likes.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

XII—THIS LITTLE WORLD!

IT'S NO easy matter to borrow ten thousand dollars just offhand. I realized that when I began to wonder how I was going to get the money to help

Virginia out, so that she could pay for the stock she'd bought. I knew that I could go to Frank Harrison and ask him to lend it to me. But I didn't want to. There was Nick Wayne, but he wouldn't be able to help me, much as he'd want to. Anyway, I had no intention of going out and borrowing money. This was going to be a business-like transaction.

Oh, how I envied women who are able to earn money! I tried and tried to think of something that I could do, and there wasn't a thing, not one.

Virginia had told me the name of her broker. Finally after racking my brains for an hour, I decided to go to see him. Perhaps he could suggest something.

I dressed in my prettiest clothes, picked up the gold mesh bag with the emerald clasp that had caused me more than one pang of conscience, and summoned the car that Frank Harrison had been so insistent about our using. After all, I might as well do the thing in style!

The broker Virginia dealt with had an office downtown, so I braved the terrors of the business section, where I'd never been before. I felt terribly out of place in the elevator which took me up to his office. Everybody else looked so important. There were two girls about my own age who might have been stenographers or something like that. I could tell from something they said that they worked. How I envied them!

And then I saw one of them glancing at my mesh bag, and I realized that probably she was envying me. I should only know the truth! I found the right office, and went in and asked for the man whose name Virginia had given me. She asked who wanted to see him, and I said Mrs. Larrabee, and she wrote something on a card and gave it to an office boy. My eyes were very keen—even upside down I could see what she wrote. It was "She's awfully pretty."

I felt better after that. If he was the kind of man who's influenced by looks, I knew that it wouldn't be quite so hard for me to face him.

"Mr. Jordan will see you now," Mrs. Larrabee, the girl said a moment later, and I followed the boy down the hall, and into a private office.

A man glanced up as I entered. My heart began to flutter like a caged bird.

It was the man I'd run away from just a few days before, the man whose house I'd blundered into in an effort to escape Frank Harrison when I was on my way to keep an engagement with Nick.

"To have run away again if I could have. But I couldn't. I just leaned against the door for an instant, and then went forward and sat down beside his desk as if I hadn't remembered him. After all, I'd had only a glimpse of him. Perhaps he wouldn't remember me."

But he did. He had risen when I went in. He just stood there and smiled, and then broke into laughter. "Ah—the young lady who was looking for an 'old school friend' who didn't exist," he said. "The young lady who gave a Park Avenue address at madam's, and then discovered that she couldn't get out of entering the house it belonged to. The young lady who was invited to stay and have a cocktail, and promised to do so, and then ran away from her host the moment his back was turned."

"I had to," I answered. "It was later than I'd supposed, and I couldn't wait to say goodbye."

"And now you've come to beg my pardon, and allow me to extend another invitation?" he asked. "I trust that's the case."

"No, I've come on business," I told him, and explained what it was.

A boy brought me a box of flowers.

He was awfully nice then, and after he'd talked half an hour and used a lot of terms that I didn't know the meaning of, he said that Virginia could have a week more in which to pay up the margin on her stock, and that he was sure it would go up in the meantime and then she'd be all right.

"And now you're going to promise to dine with me and keep the promise," he said, when he'd finished.

"Oh, but surely," I replied, with that weight off my mind I'd have promised anything within reason. After all, he had been kind.

"Tonight," he asked, I said that would do. I had an engagement, but he'd broken it off my mind at once. He said that he would come for me.

But shortly after I got home a boy brought me a box of spring flowers, jonquils and tulips and daffodils and hyacinths, a wonderful mass of color.

Tucked into the middle was a note. Wouldn't I dine with him at his home. A few friends were coming, and it would be delightful if I would.

There was just enough of an element of adventure in it to tempt me. I sent him a telegram saying that I'd be there.

1 egg, well-beaten.
1/2 cup flour.
1 teaspoon baking-powder.
1/2 teaspoon salt.
2 1/2 tablespoons milk.

3-4 cup chopped peanuts.
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice.
Cream the fat, add sugar gradually, add well-beaten egg. Mix and sift baking-powder, salt and flour; add to first mixture. Then add milk, peanuts and lemon juice. Drop from tip of a spoon on an unbuttered sheet 1 inch apart. Place 1-2 peanut on top of each. Bake 12 to 15 minutes in a slow oven. This makes 24 cookies.

INDIAN FRUIT PUDDING

Bring three pints of milk to the boil, sprinkle and cook into it two thirds cupful of corn-meal, and cool. Add one egg well-beaten, one cupful of raisins, one heaping tablespoonful of butter, and a little ginger or spice. Bake slowly for two or three hours.

GRACE LUTHERAN CHURCH

Refugees hall, Eleventh and Nevin S. T. Himes, Ph. D., minister; E. J. Evans, supt. of the Sunday school.
Sunday school begins at 10:00 o'clock. Subject of session "The Anointing of Jesus." Here is an act of true devotion to be remembered down through the ages. It was a sacrifice of love for Jesus. Jesus criticizes it and calls it waste. Mary had done a good work, and was approved by the Master. The best time to express any act of honor is while your friends are living. They will then appreciate it. The public may regard the act as mere show, if one waits till life is gone. Come and learn this and other lessons now.
Note that the catechism class is meeting during the Sunday school hour.
At the 11:00 o'clock service the sermon by the pastor will be on the subject: "The Parable of the Sower." Jesus speaks in common language. All know what is needed to have a good harvest: good seed and good soil, with plenty of rain and sunshine and the right kind of cultivation will produce a good harvest. A harvest of souls saved must have a similar chance. We need to sow the words of God as good seed. Our hearts are not to be like the wayside path, nor like stony ground. Neither are the cares and pleasures of life, like thorns, to interfere and choke the good seed but in good and honest hearts a rich harvest shall be gathered with great joy. What is your lookout for this kind of a harvest?
Luther League at 6:30 p. m. Topic "A Striking Incident in the Life of Christ." Miss Alice Johnson will lead the meeting. Come and help to make everyone feel the welcome spirit at each of these services.

Big Variety Bill of New Features at The California

There is always something new and interesting besides entertaining on the variety bills shown each Sunday at the Beautiful California and today is no exception to the rule. The management are paying special attention to the attractions scheduled to appear weekly and as the picture programs continue to be of unequal merit your local theatre is becoming the regular rendezvous of the theatergoers of Richmond.

The bill gets a merry start with the versatile offering of The Crawfords which consists of Juggling, acrobatics and wirewalking. An athletic young man and a sprightly young lady are the principals in this fast moving presentation.

The ever popular Lena Torrano Americas youngest Piano accordionist will be welcomed with a new repertoire of popular and operatic selections played in her inimitable manner.
"Echoes from the Farm" introduces Billy and Virginia Brown in a witty offering of whistling imitations, yodeling and impersonations. Theirs is a snappy performance.
"So This Is Golf" shows Wilson and Ardell in a Happy Mood. Both these artists are products of the musical comedy field and their work is talented and pleasing.

Bateman and his symphony novelty Orchestra have a bunch of original stunts and solo novelties that are the last word in syncopation. The very latest hits are included in their repertoire and the boys will vie with any other aggregation of a similar number in California.
Chuckles, giggles and hilarious laughs will succeed each other when "Along Came Ruth," Viola Dana's latest Metro picture is screened today as the screen feature of the big program.

It is the only possible reaction for an audience to Richmond's happiest evening in an amusing story of a mail girl who falls in love with a soldier who is in the army. The picture is excellent, among the players being Tully Marshall, Raymond McKee, Walter Hiers, De Witt Jennings, Gale Henry and Victor Derr.

Other features on the same program include "Have a Heart," a comedy; "Kinograms," Carl Richard's California Orchestra; and "So This Is Golf" by Wilson and Ardell.

This hour of children's worship has been instituted in accordance with the Savior's instruction. Suffer little children to come unto me, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven. (Matthew 19:14). Your child will find it a joy to come to our midst.
The "Early Service" begins at 10 o'clock. Subject of the sermon "Cleanliness from the Transfiguration." At the 11 o'clock service the parable of the Sower, Luke 8:4-15, will be presented and expounded under the topic: "The Different Hearers of God's Word." The text is a practical exposition of the divine warning: "Many are called, but few are chosen." Whilst God's grace is the same and His word is the same, the hearers are not the same. Has the word of God received reverential acceptance in your heart? Blessed are they that hear the word of God and keep it.

Dorothy Phillips "Hurricane's Gal" Richmond Today

Dorothy Phillips, one of the popular stars of the motion picture screen, whose attainments as an emotional actress have been previously revealed in Allen Holubar's productions from "Hearts of Humanity" to "Man-Woman-Marriage," comes to the Richmond Theatre today as star of Mr. Holubar's latest, "Hurricane's Gal." The production has been personally directed by Mr. Holubar, who also adapted the story from a narrative by Harvey Gates.

Miss Phillips has the role of a wild, untamed girl of the sea, who inherits from her Irish father a spirit of hate and lawlessness and from her mother the warm, romantic spirit of the Spanish. As mistress of her late father's opium smuggling ship, she roams the seas with a rag doll, a monkey and a goat as her principal companions and rules the vessel with a ferocity that is usually balanced by abundant good humor. Captain Danny, who had been first mate to the girl's father, a Chinese cook and a rough deckhand were mate are the principal figures of her life on the ship.

In the hold of the vessel is a stow-away. He falls in love with the girl. The girl escapes with the cook and the stow-away. Later, the paths of the girl and the men who first gained her love and admiration and whom she believes to have treacherously deceived her cross again. From this point the story progresses through most absorbing sequences which finally terminate the conflict between love and the hate which has been raging in the girl's soul and after a pursuit across the Pacific reunite her and the man who first deceived her love.
Other features on the same program include "July Days," a rip-roaring comedy featuring those little rascals "Our Gang;" "Kinograms," showing the latest world news.

The Older Your Car Is, The More Valuable This Is

MAINTENANCE is the big consideration to the man who owns an automobile. And he is not looking in automobile salesrooms for the things that make it easy and economical for him to operate his car.

Every year that he drives the same car, makes more valuable the ample responsibility of the good dealer who sold it to him, and the things that dealer has provided against the increasing needs of the car.

Those who bought cars here in former years are just as popular here as those who come to buy 1925 models.

Rev. Gilchrist and Family on Way to Chile

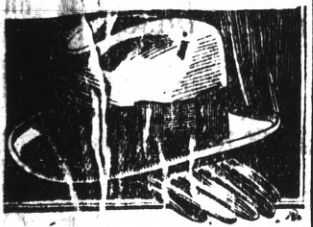

After fond farewells by scores of friends yesterday morning, the Rev. and Mrs. George M. Gilchrist boarded the "Finland" and departed for their missionary field in Santiago, Chile.

Many friends were made by Rev. and Mrs. Gilchrist while they were at the St. George Presbyterian church. Mrs. Gilchrist was formerly Miss Ruth Sanborn, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. K. Sanborn, who will assume the pastorate of the church at St. George.

As an expression of appreciation for their efforts while at the local church, the congregation presented the Gilchrist family with a purse of $100 before they left for Santiago, where they will remain for probably five years. Rev. Gilchrist was engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in the South American country several years, but returned to this country to complete his seminary training.

Soares and A. M. Rauline of the board of the supreme directors and John B. Silveira of Richmond, the district deputy. The chairman of the evening was Henry C. Soto, president of the local council.

READ'S STORE ON 8TH STREET TO BE ENLARGED

Announcement was made yesterday that an enlargement of Read's Department Store, on Eighth street, would be undertaken in the near future. It is planned to construct a one-story building on the corner lot extending to the southwest corner of Eighth and Nevada. Tandy and Theis, local contractors, will have charge of the construction.

The building will cost approximately $12,000. It will face on Eighth street as does Read's present store, and will be of modern fireproof "Class B" construction. It is estimated that with the present building and lots, an investment of between $30,000 and $35,000 has been made in real property. The lot for the new building was acquired by Robert A. Read over a year ago, with the idea of expanding the store in the future.

TO BE LARGEST STORE

At the present time Read's Department Store covers an area of 47 1-2x75 feet. It is planned to construct an archway in the north wall of the present structure, which would provide an entrance to the new building, making it all one store. The total floor space would then be 75x107 1-2—the largest floor space of any dry goods or department store in town.

The steady increase in business of the establishment had necessitated the enlargement. The present plans call for the addition of more departments and the enlargement of the old ones. A shoe and grocery department will be added and others are under consideration.

It is hoped to have the new addition complete in time to celebrate the sixth anniversary of the store, which falls in the latter part of May of this year.

before her at every meal time, but she distains to touch it. We have had other cases where patients have refused to eat for several days but when the pangs of hunger become intense their unuttered resolve not to touch food has vanished with alacrity. We'll let Miss Marshall pursue her course for a day and then it is possible that we may resort to forced feeding."

The girl has not spoken since she entered the hospital. Lying on a cot she is either unable to or refuses to answer queries put to her. According to Mrs. P. J. Schulke, 2754 Garden street, Oakland, with whom Miss Marshall has been residing, the girl has suffered previous attacks and has wandered away. Several months ago, according to Mrs. Schulke, Miss Marshall was found wandering aimlessly in Oakland and was taken to the emergency hospital. Mrs. Schulke declared the girl's mother and father are dead.

The girl was identified by hospital nurses at Martinez, who recalled she had been treated at the institution a year ago after being taken there from Brentwood. At that time she was in the hospital for eight days receiving treatment for nervous troubles.

PAINT BLAST CAUSES FIRE, INJURES MAN

Due to an explosion of a can of paint while he was heating it over a stove, J. S. Hopkins, 551 Twentieth street, was painfully burned about the hands and face early yesterday. Immediately after the explosion a fire broke out and the fire department was quickly quelled. First aid treatment was given to Hopkins by the firemen. It was estimated that $500 damages had been done to the premises.

It is said that the explosion was caused by the paint becoming superheated, which generated a gas. T. C. Robinson owns the building.

LAW DEFIED AS AUTOS HAMPER FIRE SERVICE

The motoring public is kindly requested to observe the state law that gives all vehicular fire apparatus the right of way whenever a fire alarm is turned in, by the Richmond fire department heads in a statement issued yesterday. The request follows difficulty encountered by the apparatus in traveling to a fire on Twentieth street yesterday morning.

J. J. Barry, assistant chief, reports that on Eleventh street an elderly woman deliberately crossed the street in the path of the oncoming service truck, forcing the driver to slow down and give her the right of way. He also says that an automobile failed to get clear of the street and forced the driver to retard speed in getting to the fire.

Health Hints
By the Father of Physical Culture

Many books written on the reduction of fat have been innocently or intentionally deceptive. The authors have inferred that bodily weight could be reduced while still enjoying all the pleasures of eating. This is true if we confine the pleasures of eating to the genuine pleasures that come from the true epicurean test that is part of the physical culture system of health building. But the inference is that the fat man can continue to indulge his gluttonous appetite for conventional liquors, washed down with conventional liquors, then he is doomed to disappointment, and suffer him some books of fat reduction is taking money from false pretenses. If the fat man will not give up his pleasures of gourmandizing, let him be fat. It is Nature's penalty, and there is no way to remove the effect without removing the cause.

The practical problem of the selection of the diet for reduction is in finding a diet that will not make the subject suffer too severely from the pangs of hunger. A little hunger is a good and wholesome thing, but the fat man is of an indolent type, and rarely has the courage, at least in the first stages of his experiment, to severely deny himself. He should not be judged too harshly for this weakness, as the very fact that he is fat would indicate that he has been long in the habit of indulging in food and there may be an abnormal craving in the stomach that will make the partial fast of the reducing diet more severe upon him than it would be upon a man whose appetite had been trained to restraint.

The foods selected for reduction should therefore be those which supply all possible elements without a high "heat-pound" value. Thus if one attempted to consume lettuce to the extent required to supply 1.5 wheat pounds, it would take 22 pounds of that excellent food to supply the nutrition. The very idea of eating 22 pounds of lettuce would stagger even a fat man's appetite, and there would therefore be little danger of remaining fat on such a diet. Of course it is not practical to recommend a diet of any single one of these low nutrition foods, but the diet can partake more largely of foods of this sort.

SPRING NEARS WITH ITS CALL TO MOTORISTS

Spring will soon be here, and the question will be—"How shall I spend my vacation?"

Yosemite, the Russian river, the Feather River Canyon, the ocean beaches, the mountains, the high Sierras, all will be beckoning. The call of the wild will get into the blood. Everyone has the primitive instinct under the veneer of civilization and will feel the appeal of the woods, the streams, the mountains, the roar of the ocean.

Only a select few, however, will be able to afford the luxury of the expensive summer resort hotels. Yet no one need be deprived of the delights of the great out-of-doors. All can afford a Chevrolet car and a camping outfit.

A small monthly payment brings the scenic wonders of this great state within the reach of all. It once was, that the millionaire was the only one who was privileged to gaze upon these wonders of nature.

General Motors has placed the happy medium, to reach out and enjoy, within the reach of all. The Chevrolet takes the whole family and it costs less than to stay at home.

Without a car in California is like a balloon without gas. Compared to the man with a car, the man without a car is absolutely helpless, and cannot get anywhere.

This is a big country; quick transportation is absolutely essential to any kind of success. The salesman, the doctor, the professional, the man with a trade, the laborer, they all must "get there," and to be in the running, they must "get there quick."

The light car is the thing for this purpose. Europe's experience has proved this. Light, powerful and speedy, those are the requirements. Why drag around excess weight? This is an age of efficiency.

The Chevrolet was designed with this in mind, and is the demand of the man with brains.

Salesman Shows Mr. Titewad Why He Needs a Car

A man walked into the Chevrolet Agency the other day, talked to a salesman, said he would buy a Chevrolet when he had saved enough money to pay cash for it.

"No interest payments for me," says Mr. Titewad. "I pay cash when I buy. I've always done it, and I'm forty-five years old today."

The salesman looked at him, thinking, "I would take him for sixty rather than forty-five."

"Well said the salesman, 'Would you spend $200 per month to make your wife and family happy? You bet I would,' said Titewad. 'That is just what the interest would cost you' remarked the salesman."

Mr. Titewad's answer to this was: "Well my neighbor bought one on time, and he was only earning one third of what I am making and has four kiddies. He can well afford it, now however, as he has since been raised to foreman over me."

"That is just it," answered the quick witted salesman, "That neighbor had the system, he made the wife and the kiddies happy, and in return they made the husband happy, and as a result got the job, all through buying a Chevrolet."

"Well I have another objection," says Mr. Titewad, "my wife is too nervous to drive a car."

"That is why she is nervous, Mr. Titewad. She needs a change, she should get away from house work for a while, she should have other interests, you both are getting stale."

"People who have never had a car can not realize what a wonderful help it is to have one. Not only as a means of getting out in the country, but for everyday use in the home town."

Mr. Titewad drew out his bank book and paid the salesman $175.00 for first payment and signed a fifteen month contract, heaving a sigh as he did this, and saying, "I feel better already Mr. Salesman."
